

Proposed view looking north along Hutt Street opposite McLaren Street. Artistic impression only.

Hutt Street Revitalisation

Project Update | July 2026

The City of Adelaide is revitalising Hutt Street as part of the Main Street Revitalisation program. The existing infrastructure will be renewed and the street enhanced to improve safety.

We're getting the detailed design process underway. This update is to provide you with the latest information on the Hutt Street Revitalisation project.

Council has approved a concept design for the Hutt Street Revitalisation project after listening to community feedback. Community input helped shape the design, with many people wanting to protect the character of the street while still improving how it works for everyone. Council also considered things like construction impacts, business access, cost and funding to make sure the project can be delivered smoothly and with as little disruption as possible.

The approved concept design responds to what people told us was most important, including:

- › Retaining Hutt Street's village feel and identity, which supports local businesses and street life.
- › Making it safer and easier for people walking and cycling, particularly at intersections and crossing points by providing increased space between parked cars and on-road bike lanes.
- › Protecting and enhancing greenery, including the addition of new trees to strengthen the existing avenue character and refreshing existing landscaping.
- › Providing convenient on-street parking, with 110 parking spaces retained in the existing 60-degree arrangement.

Project Benefits:

More attractive and comfortable street environment

Better accessibility for community and visitors

Support local businesses

CITY OF ADELAIDE

Hutt Street will be revitalised between South Terrace and Carrington Street.

To see the Council approved concept design, please refer to the project webpage (QR code below).

What's been happening

With the concept now confirmed, we're moving into the next phase of delivery. Our team has been hard at work taking the first steps to turn the concept into detailed design plans ready for construction.

We have engaged a specialist design and engineering team to support us to deliver the project. You may notice them working in the area as they carry out site inspections, surveys and technical investigations to support the detailed design process.

Next steps

Over the coming months, we'll speak directly with businesses and property owners along Hutt Street. The purpose of this will be to share further information about the street design. This will happen before construction starts and will help us to understand day to day business operations and how these can be accommodated during the construction delivery as far as practicable.

The detailed design process is expected to take approximately 12 months.

The City of Adelaide is committed to carrying out works in stages to minimise disruption. Construction is anticipated to get underway late 2027/early 2028. More information will be made available well ahead of construction commencing.

Stay informed

To see the Council approved concept design, please refer to the project webpage.

We will continue to keep people regularly updated on this project through the project webpage and email updates.

Visit www.cityofadelaide.com.au/hutt-street-revitalisation/ or scan the QR code.

To support a more sustainable approach, we'll no longer provide hard copy updates.

Please stay connected

Join our project mailing list by emailing feedback@huttstreetupgrade.com.au

Got more questions?

Contact our team at:
feedback@huttstreetupgrade.com.au
 1300 627 676