HISTORY AND DESCRIPTION:

This house is an excellent example of an 1840s-1860s simple workers cottage. It exhibits important stylistic elements including low scale and simple detailing indicative of its early date of construction. Houses of this period display a gable ended roof form and are one or two rooms in depth.

Town Acre 922 was fully subdivided and developed by the time of the Smith Survey in 1880. The outline of this house is visible on the Survey. Although changes have been made to the roof, this house remains an important indication of the type of residences constructed at that time, and the use of rubble masonry bricks as a building material.

A significant number of small residences, like this cottage, remain from the earliest period of housing development in North Adelaide.

STATEMENT OF HERITAGE VALUE:

Residences, like this cottage, remaining from the earliest period of housing development in North Adelaide, are important examples of the type of houses constructed in the city during the process of settlement. They reflect the style, scale, materials and detail characteristic of dwellings of the 1850s, 1860s and early 1870s.

RELEVANT CRITERIA (under Section 23(4) of the Development Act, 1993):

- (a) This house displays historical and social themes that are of importance to North Adelaide as it represents the initial settlement in the area and housing development in newly subdivided Town Acres.
- (d) This house displays aesthetic merit and design characteristics of significance to North Adelaide as it is a typical early residence displaying consistent use of materials such as rendered masonry walls, low scale and simple form.

EXTENT OF LISTING:

External form, materials and details of this early Victorian residence, including the walls and roof form associated with the house style, excluding verandah and dormer window addition.

NOTE: The 'Description of Place and Elements of Heritage Value' listed in the Adelaide (City) Development Plan for this property is as follows:
